In a time when depletion of reason is seemingly occurring on a massive scale and a new anthropocentric civilization is emerging, we will investigate through sounding the becoming of our existence and therefore emergent in nature. As architects, we have been conducting our profession as architects, making as intrinsically linked to thinking as is the will of the places and the space that we live in. It becomes where we meet other people and our environment. To survive, it is in the spirit of an urgency that we propose to work with the many imperfections and often less straightforward routes. They may emerge not as rigidly ordinated and easily predictable, but as mechanisms that can be better accounted for in many and in continual, ongoing deliberation. It is the open field of potential that draws out new collective ideas, unlearn and relearn architecture. Values will be the ground of our thought, not their outcome.

We will now continue to learn how to relate to the development of the places and the space that we live in. It becomes where we meet other people and our environment. To survive, it is in the spirit of an urgency that we propose to work with the many imperfections and often less straightforward routes. They may emerge not as rigidly ordinated and easily predictable, but as mechanisms that can be better accounted for in many and in continual, ongoing deliberation. It is the open field of potential that draws out new collective ideas, unlearn and relearn architecture. Values will be the ground of our thought, not their outcome.